

MUDDY WATERS

Some time ago, in response to calls from walkers, dog walkers and Canal users the Parish Council contacted the waterways authority, the Canal & River Trust (CRT), with a view to working together to improve the parlous state of the towpath through our parish. Of particular concern was the stretch between Honeypot Bridge and the tunnel eastern portal, where the path has for long been muddy, eroded and barely passable in all but the driest times.

Unfortunately, CRT, set up in 2012 as an independent charitable trust, carried over much of the administrative baggage that had hampered its predecessor, the government controlled quango, British Waterways. One of the trust's many hang-ups was its lack of understanding of how to deal with offers of help, in particular, volunteering.

Whilst CRT, to give them credit, were quick to slip volunteer lock-keepers into their roles, they seemed very wary of allowing amateurs to actually wield tools around the infrastructure.

Some determined local authorities, however, did manage to establish agreements in this brave new world. Notable locally is the partnership established at Braunston, near Daventry. These pioneering community involvement agreements have literally paved the way, proving that such partnerships can be of great benefit to the local communities and the charity. Our offers, three years ago, to get involved seemed to fall on barren ground at the time. Recently, however, a bubble of interest has surfaced from the murky depths of CRT, offering the Parish Council the opportunity to consider 'adopting' our piece of the waterways.

As the Bugle goes to press the initial meetings have yet to be arranged but CRT's own promotional literature lists examples of typical community involvement projects. These include maintaining the towpaths, simple infrastructure maintenance such as painting and signing, fund raising, historical interpretation, promotion and educational events and helping to combat anti-social behaviour such as graffiti and vandalism.

Also noted is the possibility of community involvement in the future development of the canal. In our case this could, eventually, see the provision of visitor mooring spaces and improved access from the canal to the village, which could encourage boaters and walkers to pause awhile in Bosworth and perhaps savour some of our facilities.

We know from responses to our earlier calls that many villagers do, for various reasons, value 'our' canal. The canal through Bosworth is over 200 years old, but as well as being of historical interest it is also an important social, environmental and potentially, commercial, asset. As far as we're concerned an opportunity to have a greater say in how it is managed and maintained can only benefit the community.

Hopefully we will have more on this in next month's Bugle, at which time we may be calling in some of those earlier expressions of interest!

GREATER MAGNA

A recent meeting of Welford Action Group (WAG) discussed proposals put forward by IDI Gazeley for the extension of Magna Park distribution centre. The plans, as tabled, are for an initial 1,000,000 sq. ft. warehouse and storage facility for DHL Supply Chain on land immediately to the west of Mere Lane. Further proposals would see the development of the whole of a 540 acre block, for which Gazeley hold an option, west of Mere Lane, effectively doubling the size of Magna Park.

In a separate proposal, plans are being drawn that would also see 3,000,000 sq. ft of warehousing, known as Symmetry Park, constructed south of the A4303 behind the existing Semelab facility. WAG members are concerned that these proposals will lead to further pressure on traffic passing through Welford and along the A5199 to access the distribution sites, especially when problems arise on the A14 and M1.

I am once again happy to report that to date, there has only been one reported crime that is of public interest for the village. This was where a resident had his wheelie-bin stolen. If anyone has any information concerning this, please ring 101.

Lutterworth has seen a recent spate of damage to vehicles and would ask that if anyone has any information about this to also contact police.

We have noted that the double solid white lines in the middle of the road on the bend by the church in Husbands Bosworth have almost eroded, and this problem has now been reported to Highways. [Editor's Note: The lines on High Street have been done.]

Once again a reminder when you leave home during the warm weather, to secure all doors and windows. The evenings are slowly drawing in so please also remember to set your security lighting if you are not going to be back home until after dark.

As usual, if you would like to speak to any of your Local Beat Team or would like some crime prevention advice, please contact 101. Enjoy the rest of the summer.

The National Fraud Intelligence Bureau (NFIB) has received several reports of a rental property fraud whereby empty premises are being targeted by criminals.

The criminals will seek out an empty rental property and enter for the purposes of changing the locks and set it up so as to convince the victims that they own the property. They then advertise it for rent on online platforms, such as Gumtree. The fraudsters then arrange for interested victims to visit the property for a viewing. Parties that are interested in renting the property are then requested to pay a deposit and/or rent upfront in cash.

In some instances the victims have moved into the property only to be evicted by the real property owner or have found that the locks have been changed, once they have received the keys. There are instances where this fraud has left victims homeless.

BOSWORTH IN FOCUS

A ROUND-UP OF LOCAL NEWS

CONKERS ON THE SCROUNGE...

Our 7th annual Conker and Welly Wanging Championships will take place on Sunday, October 4th and, in addition to supporting various worthy causes within the village, our two main charities this year will be Breast Cancer and Prostate Cancer Research.

As usual we are seeking books, bric-a-brac, tombola prizes, home-made (or bought) cakes, etc and any donation would be most welcome. We are also seeking willing volunteers for help in various areas during the day and, again, any offers of help, even for a limited time, would be gratefully received.

We are hoping to be entertained by our usual ukulele group and Morris Men but believe that extra music would be a welcome added attraction. So, we would appreciate any offers of help from acoustic musicians who would be willing to busk at various corners of the field. Please contact either Sue on 881251 or Ralph on 880526 (or accost us in the street).

Thank you - we are hoping to make this our most successful event ever.

Would any Facebook users please recommend us to your friends - we would appreciate your help.

WILD ABOUT BOSWORTH

Welcome House Guests

This year saw the welcome return of house-martins (Delichon urbicum) to our property. There were two nests in 2014 and six this year. As their numbers are falling, it's good to see ours are doing well. Two reasons for their decline have been suggested - pesticides and a shortage of suitable mud for their nests.

They are often confused with three similar looking birds; sand-martins, swallows and swifts.

House-martins have a bright white underside. The rarer sand-martins are similar but have a dark band around their chins. Swallows have red chins and deeply forked tails and swifts are stubby birds with dark undersides and scythe shaped wings.

Martins, like other aerial feeders, perform spectacular aerobatic manoeuvres in pursuit of their quarry of flies and aphids. They tend to hunt at a higher level than swallows, so the two don't compete for the same food resource.

The only downside to their residency ('downside' being an appropriate word) is the amount of poop the chicks produce. But the delight of watching these enchanting characters raise their offspring surely outweighs the hassle of cleaning up the mess.

Soon they'll be off on their epic migration to sub-Saharan Africa. In days of yore, naturalists believed they spent winter hibernating. Gilbert White in "The Natural History of Selborne - 1789," opined that; newly fledged chicks lacked the strength to make the journey, so undoubtedly hibernated.

We still don't know precisely where they over-winter, but as tracking devices get ever smaller and lighter, the answer should soon be known. More information can be found on The British Trust for Ornithology website: www.bto.org.

BYGONE BOSWORTH

Images from the Historical Society's Archive Collection

This month's picture of Bosworth is as interesting for what is still there as it is for what has disappeared! As we await the impending opening of Bosworth's new superstore we can look back at the origins of the shop building as the workshops of County Motors, the new extension to the rear appearing to have been recently built in this picture, which probably dates from the 1950s. Certainly we know that the cottages, at the extreme right, on the corner of Bell Lane opposite the Post Office, where cobbler Job Cheney plied his trade, were demolished in 1961.

The Post Office building is much as we find it today apart from the fenced yard to the side nearest The Green, which was later replaced by a single-storey extension. On the gable facing us you can just make out the ghostly outline of the cottage that previously abutted the Post Office. At least two cottages occupied the site of the garage forecourt, with the original Cherry Tree Inn on the roadside next to them.

The old Cherry Tree was swept away in a fit of public-house rebuilding in the 1930s when the 'customer base' changed from local village drinkers to the newly mobile motor car driving drinker. The new pub was set back to accommodate the essential car-park and a beer garden was provided at the rear so that the family could share in the day out in the countryside. In the picture you can also see the roof terrace at the back of the Cherry Tree, where you might sup your Watney's Red Barrel or Double Diamond - the height of decadence! The Cherry Tree sadly failed to catch sufficient passing traffic as tastes changed and, despite a gallant effort to lure customers in with a flurry of topless barmaids, it closed in 1987.

Just in shot, next to the pub is Porter's saddlery shop. Note also the rash of productive gardens in this shot - perhaps a legacy of the Dig for Victory campaign and war-time austerity.

The motor car trundling along High Street looks like a Morris Eight. At launch the Morris was priced at £301, but for a mere £115 more you could have the up-market Wolseley version.

PARISH COUNCIL NEWS

PARISH COUNCIL NEWS

Report of the Parish Council Meeting held on Tuesday, August 4th 2015

Three Council members and one member of the public were present.

Apologies for absence were received from Mrs. Hobson

Co-option of Parish Councillor

■ James Shelley was nominated for co-option onto the Parish Council and was duly elected.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Matters Arising

■ Work on the Highcroft field footpath had still not been carried out. Clerk agreed to contact Highways to see what the problem was now that ground conditions were favourable.

■ Wording for a new sign for the Play Area updating the facilities and the emergency procedure details had yet to be finalised.

■ Costs for fabricating an entrance barrier for the Play Area car-park were being sought.

■ No response had been received regarding the reason why only part of Broad Lane had been resurfaced. Clerk to contact Highways again on this matter.

Cemetery

■ Council noted that the paths had been sprayed as per the schedule.

Playing Field & Play Area

■ Repairs and refurbishment work had been carried out on the 'half-pipe' in the skate-park. Small repairs on other areas had been undertaken at the same time.

Allotments

■ Plot 21 had been relinquished. The plot had been left overgrown and littered with redundant materials, which were cleared at Council's expense.

■ Concerns were raised that the roadside gate was being left unlocked overnight.

Traffic Issues

■ It was noted that traffic numbers were generally high, which were assumed to be linked to the on-going works at the Catthorpe junction. Overnight closures were being carried out, but few problems had been noted relating to the increase in traffic.

Broadband

■ Council noted that a Broadband related cabinet had recently been installed on The Green. A second cabinet was expected to be installed before the system went 'live'.

Accounts

■ Accounts for the period 08.04.15 to 02.08.15 were presented and approved.

Any Other Business

■ Councillors discussed the prospect of producing a Neighbourhood Plan. It was noted that a Neighbourhood Plan would be a legal document, ratified by a local referendum and as such would carry considerable weight in any future development of the village and its facilities. Mr. Fletcher agreed to gather more information about the procedure to present to Council at a future meeting.

The next meeting of the Parish Council will be on Tuesday, September 1st at 7.45pm in the Committee Room of the Village Hall.

From the Rectory

I hope you've had a good summer, time to enjoy the warmer weather, to relax and enjoy the company of family and friends. The summer seems to pass so quickly - we wait so long for it to start, for the weather to warm up, and then before long we have September here; just the other day I had emails about organising things for Christmas and we haven't yet celebrated harvest or remembrance! So much of our time is spent in planning for what is to come, in looking toward the future and working towards making the next thing happen. For those who have just received their exam results this will particularly be the case, feeling that the decisions that are made are life choices that will shape the future. I have sometimes heard it said that success lies in the preparation - that the better we plan and prepare the more successful we will be. I am one of those who feels more confident about whatever I am doing if I have a plan in place, it gives security to know there is a programme, even if it turns out only to be the starting point and it all goes awry from there.

For Christians our hope and future is ultimately that we will find a place in God's family and home, whether that be in this life or in heaven. But our confidence in that hope and future is to find God in the present moment. Our security is not in the planning but in the person of, and the relationship we have with, God and his son Jesus. So the challenge to us all is to find the space in our busy lives to pause and make that connection with the divine - in the psalms it says we should 'be still and know that I am God'. So take time to smell the roses, to feel the breeze on your skin and in stillness to open your heart to the God of heaven and all the promise he brings. Liz
