

YOUR BUGLE CELEBRATES 20 YEARS

In the immortal words of Lennon and McCartney "It was twenty years ago today...". Well, not far out, but it was 20 years ago, in July 1996, that Bosworth Bugle issue number 1 appeared.

We hope we've not "...been going in and out of style" as the song suggests and we feel we've been "...guaranteed to raise a smile" and maybe a few comments in our twenty years! Most importantly we have tried to keep the community informed and continue to do so, hopefully, in a light and easily digested form.

Anyway, to our mind 20 years gives us a good opportunity to look at fresh ideas and perhaps introduce some new blood. Perhaps you would like to provide a regular article about something that you are enthusiastic about like Mike Chanter's 'Wild about Bosworth' nature series. Maybe a health and fitness theme, a series of local walks, a gardener's corner or book reviews? As most of us on the Bugle Team are of, shall we say, advancing years, we would particularly welcome more articles of interest to our younger villagers - perhaps a young voice or voices column or a junior quiz section?

If you would like to get involved in the production - as a proof reader, maybe, or help with distribution at the beginning of the month, or get involved with the making of your community newsletter in any way, please get in touch.

FESTIVAL FUNDS

Despite the slightly inclement weather on the day and subsequently lower visitor numbers, the members of the festival organising committee declared Bosworth Festival 2016 another successful community event.

Takings at the gate represented just under 900 paying visitors, which was only slightly down on last year's record attendance. However, increased funding from the many kind sponsors, fees from stall-holders and donations from the VW and classic car exhibitors and traders meant that a total of £1,000 was given to the 'headline' charities and £2,600 distributed to local groups.

As always sincere thanks must go to the group of organisers, especially the Clarke 'dynasty' and the stalwart stewards, David Cook for relinquishing the parkland for the event and, of course, Robert and Susan Maxwell for their unfailing support.

POSTBAG

From Suzanne Dhillon, Bell Lane

Many, many thanks to the generous people of Husbands Bosworth who donated items to my stall at the Bosworth Festival! Thank you - another £350 has gone straight to the orphans in Belarus.

From Name withheld, (by email)

Four hundred years ago nine members of Bosworth community lost their lives by hanging for trying to help another. To commemorate this we, as witches, have placed and lit a candle and also placed a card, in respect of these unfortunate parishioners on the memorial. Blessings. [Editor's Note: This reached us by email and although perhaps a little quirky it does serve to remind us that our village was the focus of some controversy back in 1616 when a bunch of village women were hauled off to Leicester and hanged for practising 'witchcraft' in an attempt to cure the son of Erasmus Smith, who was probably suffering from epilepsy.]

From The Millennium Wood Committee

A small group of villagers help to maintain and protect the Millennium Wood on the corner of Mill Lane and Kilworth Road for the benefit of the community. The group relies on volunteer labour, donations, fundraising and a great deal of goodwill to carry out the work. So, it was particularly upsetting recently when the group found that many of the tools that they have been given or have purchased for specific jobs were stolen from the site. Obviously if anyone has seen any suspicious activity recently we would ask that they call the police on 101.

WILD ABOUT BOSWORTH

Speckled Wood [Pararge aegeria]

A common sight in our hedgerows is the Speckled Wood butterfly. When they are looking to breed, the males commandeer a sunlit spot and await passing females. If you happen to take a walk during one of their breeding spells (they produce two or three broods a year), you'll frequently spot one of these butterflies in every dappled glade along the way.

As the sun moves, and their perches become shaded, they flutter about, seeking a new spot in the limelight.

A good place to see them is along the canal from Kilworth bridge towards the Bosworth tunnel. Sometimes you'll find a pair of males performing aerobatics as they fight over a prime location. However, some energetic males eschew this 'Territorial Defence strategy' in favour of roaming the woods looking for receptive females; a 'Patrolling strategy'.

For the females, mating is a once in a short-lifetime experience (one to three weeks), though luckier males mate multiple times. An unusual feature of this species, is that they can overwinter as either caterpillars or chrysalises.

Their preferred food as adults is the honeydew excreted by aphids in the treetops. In their larval stage, the green striped caterpillars feed on a variety of grasses.

Due to climate change, they have migrated into areas of scrub, hedgerows and even gardens, and their range now extends to far northwest Scotland. As a result, it's a good news story in terms of their numbers. Mike Chanter

BYGONE BOSWORTH

Images from the Historical Society's Archive Collection

Back in June we featured an article about the fuel delivery pipeline that supplied aviation fuel to Bruntingthorpe airfield and, in particular, the pipe bridge that crosses the canal between Bosworth and Theddingworth. A while back, Michael Salter, sent us some pictures he had taken surreptitiously of Bruntingthorpe whilst the site was in the throes of the US Air Force takeover of the former WWII RAF base in the late 1950s. Michael's pictures show the massive earthworks that were necessary to convert the site to American use, (and abundant mud!). The old aerodrome was almost totally rebuilt and a 2 mile long bomb-proof runway constructed as the airfield was destined to become a front-line strategic bomber base; code name 'Big Thunder' and home to the colossal six-engined Boeing B47 Stratojet nuclear bomber.

Further to our previous piece about the pipe bridge itself we hear from John Begley that the Begley family building empire had a hand in the construction of the pipeline. John recalls that one of the first jobs he did after leaving school was to help construct the stop-tap chambers for the pipeline. The brick-lined chambers were installed at 2 mile intervals along the line from the Kelmarsh storage depot to the airfield and accommodated a stop valve controlled by an enormous wheel 'tap' which, along with the associated pipe work, was all painted with red oxide paint.

John remembers that they got the job of painting the pipe-bridge itself and were given sufficient metallic silver paint and instructed to give it three coats. Father Jack Begley obviously felt that three coats was a bit extravagant and told the 'lads' to give it just one good coat and leave it at that! Maybe because it was a Sunday and they would rather be elsewhere, John recalls that they slapped the paint on so liberally that the canal surface soon developed a silver sheen beneath the structure!

HORTICULTURAL AND CRAFT SHOW 2016

Inside this copy of the Bugle you should find the Schedule for our Village Horticultural and Craft Show to be held on Bank Holiday Sunday, August 28th.

The Show began about a hundred and thirty years ago as a very serious, competitive affair for the gardeners of the 'big houses' in the vicinity, to show off their prowess in growing flowers, vegetables and fruit, in both native and exotic varieties. About a hundred years ago, it was taken over by HB branch of the British Legion, together with the Women's Institute and became one of the major events of the summer. Now it is one of the few traditional village horticultural shows left in Leicestershire, with all the profits being ploughed back to Bosworth organisations. The show helps to define us as a community, so let's keep this old tradition alive by exhibiting, or just come along and be amazed how many talented folks live in Bosworth, and enjoy homemade cakes and play tombola!

Over the past few years the show has grown in the Childrens' and Craft Classes. The produce area has been more difficult for many reasons including (once more) the weather. Still, it's dry inside the Village Hall and Friends Of Bosworth School have organised an exhibition of horticultural paintings by school and pre-school children. This should supply us with the warmth and sunshine that our climate seemingly cannot. FOBS members will also be on hand to serve home-made refreshments.

So, please come along, compete in any of the many classes or just be entertained and help us keep this proud tradition going. There is a class for everyone, and our leaflet on 'Tips on Showing' is still available from Eleanor Murphy (Tel: 880476).

We make the usual plea for help in setting up and taking down the Show and the baking of cakes for refreshments! Also, please would last year's trophy winners ensure they return them to Eleanor before the Show.

PARISH COUNCIL NEWS

20 MPH SCHOOL LIMITS

At a recent meeting the school governors welcomed proposals recently tabled by Leicestershire County Council to install Advisory School 20mph Zone controls on the highway approaches to Husbands Bosworth C. of E. Primary School.

The zone will straddle the A4304 and A5199 junction, bounded by Kilworth Road, Welford Road and High Street and be indicated by 20mph flashing light warning masts, similar to those installed in Lubenham.

Within the flashing light zone the 20mph speed will be operational for a short period during the morning and afternoon periods of the day when pupils are attending and departing the school; times to be confirmed and agreed by the school prior to installation.

WELFORD ACTION GROUP

At a recent meeting with Christine Zacharia, leader of Harborough District Council's planning enforcement team, Welford Action Group members discussed specific problems with traffic to and from the Bruntingthorpe Proving Ground site. Although HGV traffic in general causes major problems through Husbands Bosworth and on the narrow Welford High Street, in a recent survey the group identified Bruntingthorpe traffic, and particularly the high number of car transporters, as being a significant proportion of the total.

At the meeting Ms Zacharia outlined the constraints laid down at the time of the original planning permission for the car storage site in 1996. The total number of car transporter movements were restricted to 200 per week, with a maximum of 45 on any one day.

However, the permission for subsequent use of the site for car auctions in 2010 seems not to have a set limit on transporter movements for that enterprise, the restriction being held only at three auctions a week. The group felt that this anomaly and omission could be a major contributory factor in the high volume of car transporter traffic experienced through Bosworth and Welford.

The problem may also be exacerbated by the fact that no designated route for traffic using the site had been enshrined within the granted permissions. However, it was noted that Mannheim Auctions, the chief operator for the auction site, did issue a Designated Route card, using Pincet Lane, the A4304 and M1 junction 20, to all their contractors, but admitted that the use wasn't controlled.

Ms Zacharia admitted that mistakes had been made in the planning process and that more rigorous enforcement of movements and monitoring would be expected in future, where traffic to and from the site was causing concerns in local villages.

Whilst many questions were still unresolved, the group was pleased that HDC had taken on board their concerns and had opened a Planning Enforcement case to look into the matter.

CHURCH NEWS

All Saints Parish Church, Methodist Chapel & St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church

FROM THE RECTORY

From Sunday, August 28th our traditional 5.00pm service at All Saints Church will be replaced by something new - Promise Keepers. This will be a mixture of songs, stories, prayer, activities for children and discussion for the grown-ups, followed by refreshments – and much more informal than our traditional style of service has been. You might ask why do we call it 'Promise Keepers'. The name has come out of the fact that at the baptism of children we make promises to parents to help you bring up your children in the Christian faith and parents and godparents make similar promises to bring up the child being baptised up within the life of the church. As the former 'family service' has lapsed due to lack of families, this is a new venture to help the church and parents to fulfil the promises made by all, hopefully in a fun and relevant way. It will take place on the 4th Sunday of each month replacing the 5pm service.

While the name has come out of the idea of keeping promises made at baptism, Promise Keepers is open to any who would like to come along. We plan to cater for all ages, from toddlers in a crèche, through primary aged children, teenagers and adults of all ages, though please be patient with us if we don't get it right first time. This is something new to us and may be something that grows with us as we proceed. Those who come along will no doubt help us shape it into what will be of value to us all. Hoping to see you there.

God bless you and have a good summer. Liz
