

THE QUEEN'S PLATINUM JUBILEE IN BOSWORTH

The Queen acceded to the throne on the death of her father George VI on February 6th 1952 and will celebrate her 70th year on the throne with a special 4 day weekend of 2nd-5th June 2022.

The Parish Council have agreed to host celebrations to mark the Queen's Jubilee on the village Playing Field and hope that the village will take this opportunity to celebrate, here and around the village.

The Parish Council can't organise it alone though, and are now looking for some volunteers to help plan and run great family-friendly events. So, maybe this is where you come in? If you're prepared to help, then Bosworth can have what is hoped will be a very welcome social occasion. And, if you're not able to help out, then why not just save that slot, come along and have a great time.

But what would you like to see happen then? Some ideas have already been tabled, including a beacon-lighting at dusk and barbecue evening at the Sports Pavilion but otherwise the slate is clear, so we need to start planning soon.

The Parish Council is asking those interested, village group or individuals to get in touch with offers of help and ideas as soon as you can - either by e-mail to the Parish Clerk, Derek, at the Parish Office: clerk@husbandsbosworthpc.org.uk or simply by popping a note, with contact details, through the Parish Office door at 2a Mowsley Road.

Once we've sifted responses, offers of help and suggestions for suitable events, the Parish Council host a meeting* to throw some ideas around.

*Event will comply with any Covid restrictions at that time.

TRANSPORTER WOES

Welford Action Group (WAG) remind us that they are still monitoring the movement of car transporters on routes to and from the Bruntingthorpe vehicle storage facility. Bruntingthorpe have a recognised traffic route, which directs traffic away from the A5199 corridor, along Pincet Lane and M1 junction 19.

Recently the group has noted increased traffic and has established a line of contact for reporting complaints from the local communities.

WAG are urging anyone spotting car transporters travelling along the A5199 to record the vehicle details, registration number and operator and report it to: tptcomplaints@bruntingthorpe.atlassian.net

AND THE WINNERS ARE...

In another closely fought battle, the winners of our Festive Quiz were Mike and Beryl Pennington, who proved themselves to think as deviously as our compiler...

They were closely followed by Dave and Jane Hall and Amanda Parker, (an ex-villager who submitted an online entry), Sue and Peter Lawrence and Jennifer and Ken Rogers.

A big thank you to everyone who entered, especially our first time entrants.

The answers will be posted on-line shortly at: husbandsbosworth.info.

TOY STORY TOO...

Local children's charity, Toys on the Table would like to take this opportunity to thank Bosworth folk and the Parish Council for their help and generous donations for our Christmas appeal.

Your support has enabled us, once again, to provide a package of toys or gifts to deserving children who otherwise, would receive nothing during the festive season.

In 2020 we provided in excess of 12,500 gifts to some 4,360 children in the ages ranging from birth to 16 years.

This year, due to the continuing difficult situation the country finds itself in, those numbers actually rose to about 13,500 toys/gifts to 4,800 children.

Once again, thank you for your support without which we couldn't bring that much needed smile to the faces of so many deserving children.

Mac Clarke and the TOTT team.

BUGLE POSTBAG

From Di Jones, Senior Churchwarden, All Saints Church

On behalf of All Saints I would like to say thank you to everyone for their support during the past year, and particularly for the Christmas Trail.

There were some wonderful displays and the village looked so nice. A special mention must be made to Penny Arscott, Belinda Hall and Wendy Cochrane, who work so hard behind the scenes for us. Also, those who cleaned and decorated the church, provided the Christmas tree and helped over the weekend. Bless you all, you know who you are. Your efforts helped us to raise just over £1,000 for church funds.

While saying thank you I must not forget the Parish Council for providing the lovely tree outside church for all the village to share. Many thanks.

FIRS FARM UPDATE

A recent survey and report has identified the extent of the waste on site, the types of material and quantities. These are now confirmed as 'municipal' waste, mixed residual wastes, imported soil and gypsum-based waste. There is no evidence to suggest hazardous or serious waste has been imported on to the farm.

Consultants will now finalise a remediation strategy and action plan for removal of the waste from the site to proper disposal facilities. The report confirms that there is a low risk of groundwater contamination due to the relatively shallow depth of the waste, and underlying soil types. The expectation is to be in a position to start removal of the main waste streams by late spring 2022, assuming all permissions are in place.

FOXTON LOCKS CAR PARKING

Plans have been announced for a new parking payment system at Foxton Locks. The Canal and River Trust (CRT) is looking to introduce automatic number plate recognition (APNR) technology in its Foxton Locks car parks to replace the current pay and display method. New payment machines would also allow visitors to pay for parking by card or via their mobile, as well as with cash. The plans, which CRT hope will enhance visitor experience at the popular site, have yet to be approved by Harborough District Council.

BOSWORTH IN FOCUS

BOSWORTH SKY AT NIGHT

Astronomy from your Backyard

Choose a clear night, wrap up warm and venture outside to look at the stars. Give yourself 10 to 15 minutes for your eyes to become accustomed to the dark. Take in the wonder of the night sky. It is quite good here in Husbands Bosworth, if you can get away from neighbours' annoying security lights. Take a pair of binoculars if you have them but they are not essential.

This month we are looking at the winter constellation Orion, the Hunter.

Orion is one of the most familiar sights in the winter sky and in February it is due south (looking towards Welford) at 8.00pm in the middle of the month. The star chart shows the brightest stars in Orion as seen by the naked eye.

The star α Orionis, or Betelgeuse (Beetle-juice!), is top left in the constellation and distinctly red in colour, particularly through binoculars. It is a red giant star nearing the end of its life and is expected to end its evolution with a supernova explosion within 100,000 years. It is between 10 and 20 times the mass of our Sun and 500 to 600 light years away. [NB. A light year is the distance light travels in a year - quite a long way!]

The star β Orionis, or Rigel, is bottom right, diagonally opposite Betelgeuse and is a blue/white supergiant star. This star really is a whopper, seventy times bigger than and approximately 300,000 times as luminous as our Sun.

The highlight of Orion, however, has to be the Great Orion Nebula, or M-42, which is just visible to the unaided eye as a fuzzy patch in the Hunter's sword. Binoculars or a small telescope transform M-42 into a greenish-white nebulosity. Glowing ionised hydrogen gas energised by hot young stars produce the nebula's light that we see.

The moon is full in the middle of February and washes out a dark sky, so it is best to view Orion in the first and last week of the month. Also look for the planet Venus appearing as a brilliant white 'morning star' before dawn in the south-eastern sky (in the direction of Sibbertoft). You might also spot the dull-red planet Mars at 5 o'clock under Venus, although it's quite faint.

Next month - Gemini, the Twins

WILD ABOUT BOSWORTH

Our regular Wild about Bosworth contributor, Mike Chanter, is out of action following a bad fall in Harborough at Christmas. He's recovering now, but can't manage an article for this issue of the Bugle.

However, Mike sent us this little conundrum a while ago, and we present for our readers who, in the wake of our Festive Quiz issue are still craving a little brain teaser...

A riddle, where I am the answer,

So tell me what I am sir.

Fifty-two's your due, not less, not more.

Though away go those forever unused.

A sideways glance shows a missing four.

Come; don't say you're still bemused!

Observe that ours are never crossed.

Scan the figures till they agree.

Discount the two the hard man's lost.

Makes forty-two, so plain to see.

You probably won't find any bears but the Millennium Woodland Trustees have been fortunate in securing grant funding for extending the raised pathways over the wetland area, opening new opportunities for exploration. Visitors should notice some welcome improvements to the pathways and access in the next few weeks.

SCHOOL REPORT

HUSBANDS BOSWORTH C. of E. PRIMARY SCHOOL Head Teacher Alan Eathorne

Happy New Year to you all from everyone at Husbands Bosworth Primary School. We are looking forward to the spring term and learning about new topics. One of our new topics is where the children are going to develop their geography knowledge and skills when they begin to compare Husbands Bosworth, Leicester and Rio De Janeiro and see how the movement of people has made these places change.

This term also brings the return of swimming lessons and residentials for the children. Children in Key Stage 2 will be attending swimming lessons in Market Harborough this term. Children in Class 4 will be going on a residential trip to Norfolk later in the term, where they will have a chance to learn how to climb and kayak, amongst other exciting activities.

This month I end with a poem from a child in Class 3:

I asked the boy who could see "And what is colour like?"

"Why green," said he, "is like the swaying leaves dangling from the trees.

And blue is the wavy sea splashing in the wind.

Red is love in your body making your heart beat.

And pink is like a piece of candy floss melting in your mouth.

Black is a nightmare with shadows and bats.

Orange is the juiciest squirt of happiness and love."

BYGONE BOSWORTH

Images from the Historical Society's Archive Collection

This month we venture a wee bit out of our parish and take a look at a piece of lost Leicestershire almost on our doorstep...

Near Lubenham on the A4303, a sign points to Papillon Hall Farm. Although the farm and a motley bunch of ancillary buildings have survived, the prize 'exhibit' - Papillon Hall itself, is sadly gone.

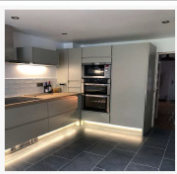

The Hall was demolished during 1950-1, after being much ravaged by the occupation of the 319th Glider Field Artillery Battalion of the 82nd Airborne Division of the US Army in the build up to the Normandy landings during World War II. The hall's glamorous heritage alone should have seen this glorious architectural gem preserved. Designed around the core of a 17th century manor house by the renowned Victorian architect, Edwin Lutyens and surrounded by gardens laid out by the equally renowned garden designer Gertrude Jekyll, it was one of the most complete architect and garden designer collaborations ever contrived.

Lutyens greatly expanded the original house, adding four sweeping wings, which fanned out, in plan, like the wings of a butterfly - papillon being French for butterfly; the family name of the original French Huguenot owners. Jekyll, for her part, swathed the hall with shrubbery and herbaceous plantings within a formal garden structure of stairs and balustraded terraces.

A bit late in the day, remaining fragments of the garden house, wall and attached pillar, that formed part of the garden, were listed as grade II buildings in 1995. Also still evident are elements of Jekyll's lily pond, summerhouse, some walls, and the remains of a greenhouse. The stables and outbuildings are now used as farm buildings.

MORE BOSWORTH IN FOCUS

BOSWORTH GARDENS

Spring is in sight and there are plenty of things to be getting on with in the garden during any weather window in February...

Bosworth Bulbs

Vegetable Patch

- Prepare your beds by digging up perennial weeds and covering with cloches, polythene, or fleece to warm the soil for earlier planting
- Chit early and maincrop potatoes - pop them in some egg boxes and put them somewhere warm and dry to sprout before planting in March
- Plant garlic, shallot and onion sets out
- Sow broad beans early in the month to avoid blackfly as much as possible
- Sow salad crops - lettuces, radish, chard and spring onions, under cover to get ahead

Flowers

- Sow sweet peas under cover, and try using toilet rolls or individual modules to minimise root disturbance when you transplant them outside in spring
- Divide crowded snowdrops and pop them around the garden for more plants next year
- Prune wisteria, jasmines, rhododendron and summer flowering clematis
- Cut back Cornus (dog woods) and Salix (willows) to promote summer growth

Fruit Patch

- Plant deciduous trees or move them while they are still dormant. They also benefit from a good mulch of rotted manure or garden compost this time of year. Take care only mulch to feed the roots and try not mound it up the stems.
- Protect any early fruit blossoms from frosts, but ensure pollinating insects have access
- Prune and mulch fruit bushes to maintain their productiveness
- Cover strawberry plants to encourage an earlier crop

AT HOME IN BOSWORTH

We recently discussed payment diversion fraud, where criminals pretend to be someone else in order to steal your money. Now we look at another simple property scam - so-called 'stolen home fraud', which is another main type of property sales related fraud.

You might recently have come across the bizarre story of Luton based Reverend Mike Hall, who returned to his house after a long period working away from home to find someone else living in it. You might have thought it was a freak event. You'd be wrong...

Here's how it works...

The fraudsters find properties that are mortgage free and ideally where there is a sole owner, a dead owner, an owner in a care home, a landlord, or living overseas. The fraudsters then 'becomes' the owner by legally changing their name to that of the owner and obtaining identity documents such as passports and driving licences in the new name. They may get an accomplice to rent the property as a tenant, giving the fraudsters free access to show estate agents around in order to appear more legitimate.

Land Registry and other searches in the sale process understandably throw up no anomalies in the registered ownership. The fraudsters then sell the property, pocket the money and disappear.

I know this sounds complex but each step is fairly straightforward, and with the huge amounts of money at stake there is a ready supply of criminals willing to give it a go.

If you're worried about this kind of fraud affecting you, there's a simple thing that you can do to stop it - set up a land registry property alert and get notified of any events affecting the title of your property: <https://propertyalert.landregistry.gov.uk/propertyalert/>

CHURCH NEWS

All Saints Parish Church & St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church

ALL SAINTS CHURCH NEWS

Janus and Jesus...

The month of January is named after the Roman god, Janus. He was always depicted as a man with two faces. One face looked backwards and showed sorrow, dismay, and perplexity; the other face looked forward and showed hope and confidence.

The symbol of Janus was used to teach that there are two ways to live. We can choose to live overcome by our previous failures and misfortunes or we can choose to live in the hope of better things to come, a new beginning.

I find this a useful image as we enter into a new year. How will we enter 2022? Will we let previous disappointments and sadnesses drag along with us - and to be honest there have been many in these COVID ravaged times. Or, will we choose to go forward into 2022 with hope?

For Christians it is perhaps somewhat easier to look forward with hope. In Jesus we have confidence that, in the immortal words of the mystic, Mother Julian of Norwich, writing in the 14th century, '...all shall be well, and all shall be well, and all manner of thing shall be well.'

Our confidence is rooted in the fact that, because of Jesus, nothing can ultimately harm us or separate from the God who loves us;

"For God loved the world so much that he gave his only Son. God gave his Son so that whoever believes in him may not be lost, but have eternal life." John 3:16

A great writer, Eugene Peterson, recently died. In his eulogy, his son said that every night his father would repeat the same phrase to his sleeping children,

God loves you. He is on your side. He is coming after you. He is relentless.

I offer you this as we begin 2022. You might want to say it over yourself, or over your loved ones.

I pray that in 2022 we might all know that relentless love of God coming after us.

MIKE'S LITTLE TEASER...

A riddle, where I am the answer...

Answer: The Eyes of a Pack of Playing Cards!

You'd expect forty-eight eyes from the twelve Court cards, whose faces are shown twice, plus two each from the Jokers. However, the Jokers are forever unused, leaving forty-eight.

The Jacks of Spades and Hearts look sideways. So they show four eyes, not eight, leaving forty-four.

Eyes may be crossed elsewhere, but not in the pack.

Look at the figures in the pack; the 'hard' man, the diamond King, looks sideways and shows only two eyes.

So, 42 eyes...

Note: The first line says - where 'I' am the answer!
