

GREEN WAYS

With the grass-verge cutting season now in full swing after a shaky start due to the exceptionally wet spring, here is the schematic map of the verges around the village that are nominally under the control of the Parish Council.

Previously the roadside verges were cut by the County Council. But, under an agreement with LCC the Parish Council took over the responsibility for cutting of the areas marked in green, in order to be better in control of the growth.

These areas are now incorporated into the Parish Council's wider grass cutting contract, which includes the Playing Field, the Play Area, the Allotment pathways and the Welford Road Cemetery.

It should be noted that some of the shaded areas are cut by the adjacent householders under historic agreements and some, relating to 'new' developments, are under private maintenance contract agreements.

If you have any issues with grass-verge cutting or other roadside matters please contact the Parish Clerk on 881109.

SHOW AND TELL...

All is on track for this year's Horticulture & Craft Show, a village tradition that goes back at least 140 years. There will be classes in floral, vegetable, arts and crafts for all ages and abilities.

As a reminder, the Show will be held on Sunday, August 4th in the Village Hall and we aim to have the full schedule available by the beginning of July. In the meanwhile, if anyone would like to offer help, sponsorship or has any ideas that may help to make the event even more successful, please do get in touch.

Whilst the Show is primarily a great chance for the community to come together, it also showcases our talents and skills, with prizes awarded for those judged, by our accredited panel of independent judges, the most worthy... So, we would remind all our wonderful prize cup holders from the 2023 show that these need to be returned as soon as possible either to Eleanor Murphy, The Old House, Honey Pot Lane or Karen, 3 Green Lane. Collection can be arranged for anyone who may have difficulty returning the silverware! Please call Karen on 0752 3146227 or email: kide.1962@gmail.com.

SWEET SUCCESS

All Saints Pudding Club, in April, was voted a great success by sweet toothed villagers, raising £500 towards church funds.

A dozen puds and cakes, custards and creams tempted those who came along to enjoy the feast... Maybe if we make enough of the right noises the organisers might consider another helping later in the year!

Meanwhile here is a candid picture of the Bugle Editor, clearing up some of the leftovers...

BUGLE POSTBAG

From Paula Oxley (nee Halden), South Kilworth

I was thrilled to see a photo of my grandmother Nellie Wallis as May Queen featured in Bygone Bosworth in the May Bugle.

Nellie went on to marry William Halden of Highcroft Farm and they moved as a young married couple to Firs Farm. Their oldest son, Ken, my father, worked on the farm and much of my childhood was spent on Firs Farm with my 'Nanny'. She told me about the May Day processions and I have inherited the medallion she was given as May Queen, engraved with her name and the year, 1910.

My husband, Chris and I are looking forward to moving back to my childhood home in Husbands Bosworth later this year.

From Alan Eathorne (Headteacher - HB Primary School)

We received the sad news that Louisa Morris, previous headteacher at our school, died suddenly in April.

Louisa was the headteacher at Husbands Bosworth for three years [2013-2016]. She was dedicated to her role and worked hard for the community she served with great skill and determination. She was warm, caring and always put the needs of the children first. She had a wonderful sense of humour and we have many happy memories of Louisa's time here at Husbands Bosworth. Louisa left Bosworth to be headteacher at St. Mary's in Melton and then became an executive leader and Deputy Director of Education within the Rise Trust.

From Mike Chanter, Mowsley Court

I've decided to hang up my quill in September, which will be my 100th of Wild about Bosworth column.

I've really enjoyed researching and scribbling these pieces for the Bugle, and though my grey cells are not as retentive as they used to be, I have learnt lots about our local flora and fauna.

I thought I would tell you now, so you can seek a new column writer to start in October. I would be happy to provide copies of previous articles, if this would help them take over the role.

Editor's Note: I'm sure our readers will join the Bugle Team in thanking Mike for his contributions over the past eight years. No doubt we will still see Mike roaming the local countryside! In the meantime if anyone would like to contribute about 320 words on any popular subject please get in touch; contact details on this page.

BOSWORTH IN FOCUS

WILD ABOUT BOSWORTH

Cow parsley Anthriscus sylvestris

The two indispensable colours landscape artists need at this time of year are green and white. White for hawthorn blossom, horse chestnut flowers, garlic mustard and of course, cow parsley. The cow parsley flowers that embellish our local verges are typically described using the cliché 'frothy'. The florets are arranged in umbrella-shaped clusters, called umbrels. If you look closely at the plant, you will see slender stalks branching off the main stem. These terminate in a spread of even thinner stems, which themselves terminate in an array of even thinner stems, called pedicles. Finally, these end in the smallest of creamy-white five-petalled flowers.

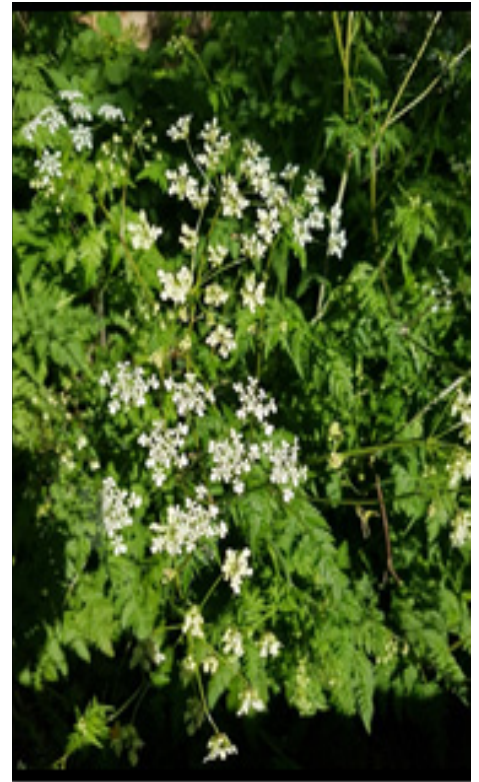

Cow parsley is a member of the carrot family, so unsurprisingly rabbits are not averse to a cow parsley salad. Every part of the plant is edible. Flowers, leaves and stems can be added to salads, or used as a herb in soups, pesto and stews. Even the roots can be prepared like carrots, and the seeds can be ground and added to curries or rice - the flavour being described as grassy, parsley with a tang of liquorice or aniseed...

Foraging of this plant, though is STRONGLY discouraged, due to its similarity to the poisonous Hemlock (Conium maculatum). In the past, the vernacular names, 'Mother die' or 'Mummy die', were used to deter children from mistakenly playing with the deadly vegetation - something my friends and I didn't know when we picked 'keck', as we called it, to make peashooters out of its hollow stems...

Meanwhile, cow parsley pollen and nectar provide substance to a vast number of insects, from orange-tip butterflies to hover flies, bees, and various moths. Traditionally it was used to treat ailments such as stomach and kidney problems, breathing difficulties and colds, and has always been used as a mosquito repellent.

[As an aside: my spellchecker wants me to change 'a herb' to 'an herb'... but I can't bring myself to make the change.]

SCOUTING FOR BOSWORTH

All of our sections have had a busy term so far, entering competitions, attending camps and enjoying the splash of sunshine we have had. Beavers have been to visit both Lutterworth Fire Station and The Gliding Centre. They also enjoyed a walk around the village, spotting local landmarks and wildlife. Thank you to those who gave the Beavers a wave as they passed you!

Cubs attended their secret sleepover and were thrilled with the surprise location - St Andrews Church in North Kilworth! Saturday morning began with bacon cobs that fuelled them on to help with tidying up the Church grounds. Two teams entered the Rambling Fox competition and showed great strength and determination to complete the route.

Scouts have used brain power and logic to play Warhammer, navigate their way around the Rambling Fox route and to complete strategical team challenges whilst out at the Millennium Wood. Scouts also celebrated St. George's Day with their annual weekend camp. All attendees spent Sunday providing activities for the younger sections, teaching The Country Code through a wide game. Well done Scouts! Unfortunately, the Scouts received the news that their two leaders will be stepping down at the end of this term, but are hopeful their Scouting journeys can continue...

1st Kilworth Scout Group is a long-standing part of this community - the Leaders, Assistants, Supporters and Trustees all offer young people from the village opportunities to garner valuable skills for life. We are one of very few groups across Leicestershire who were able to maintain numbers through covid and increase numbers immediately afterwards. To enable the Group to go forward, we need help. We need a Scout Leader. We need someone who wants to learn career friendly skills, boost their own wellbeing and make new friends. Please spread the word and get in touch. We also have vacancies available for Trustees to join us. Email Kilworthscouts@gmail.com to express an interest. We look forward to hearing from you.

SCHOOL REPORT

HUSBANDS BOSWORTH C. of E. PRIMARY SCHOOL Head Teacher Alan Eathorne

Children at Husbands Bosworth Primary School welcomed their Trust's new CEO last month. Jane Jones was appointed in April to lead Learn Academies Trust, after the retirement of Dr. Stef Edwards. Jane has spent the last month visiting all the schools in the Trust and many of their pupils.

Members of the school's Collective Worship Team and School Council welcomed her to the village. They chatted about her previous roles, what matters to them as young people and then asked some well-considered questions on her plans for the next few years. Welcome Mrs Jones, it's a pleasure to have you with us!

BYGONE BOSWORTH

Images from the Historical Society's Archive Collection

Rachel Root (née Aland) of North Kilworth, sent us the photograph below to illustrate the story of her being crowned Miss Husbands Bosworth 1959.

The competition was organised by the Rugby Apprentice Rag committee, and teams of judges went out to the villages to judge the contestants on their home territory; the local contest being in the Turville Memorial Hall.

Each contestant danced with the judges in turn and were asked a string of questions about their lives, hobbies and occupations. Rachel recalls that she listed bell-ringing, cycling and sewing as her hobbies, and that she made the gingham skirt and top in the photograph herself, specially for the contest. She continued on to the final at the Co-op Halls, Rugby where, at a grand ball, for which she bought an expensive dress, Miss Rugby was crowned.

SEVENTEEN - YEAR - OLD Rachel Aland, a railway clerk, of High-street, North Kilworth, was chosen Miss Husbands Bosworth at a dance in the village hall held by Rugby Apprentices Rag Committee, in their search for a 1959 rag queen.

Rachel worked at Welford & Kilworth Station as passenger and goods clerk, where her father, Harry Aland, was signalman. Her boyfriend at the time was John Halden, whose family farmed Firs Farm on Welford Road and, the next day, to celebrate her success, they went for a day out to Bradgate Park on his motorbike!

Happily, a brief search of the Historical Society Archive collection unearthed the Miss Husbands Bosworth sash that Rachel had presented to the Society after her year in office.

The Society's Programme for when we resume in the autumn is now penciled in...

Our season will open in October when we will take a look at how the displaced Poles, housed at the Sulby Resettlement Camp, were assimilated into the local community. We will start 2025 on a search for the Knights Hospitallers and the Order of St. John at Beaumont Leys, followed by the return of our old friend, archeologist Peter Liddle who will be asking 'What did the Vikings ever do for us?'

To round off our season, our own Heather O'Connor will be taking us along on her 2023 tour of the Far East and Japan, whilst Helen Allen will be back in the Scottish Highlands, looking at the notorious conflicts between the Clans and The Clearances...

Sadly, we hear that Pat Woodbine, formerly of Highcroft passed away on April 16th in Hampshire. Pat and her late husband Derek were very much part of the community. Pat was a keen member of the Historical Society and PCC Secretary and both supported other village organisations.

CHURCH NEWS

All Saints Parish Church & St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church

ALL SAINTS CHURCH NEWS

Over the years, our family has had about ten holidays in a gite on a family-run vineyard in the Champagne region. We always go to church on Sunday, and in this part of France, that means attending the Roman Catholic church. To be honest it has often been a bit of a moribund experience, with aged priests and congregations, not much in the way of life or passion and very little sign of spiritual vitality or mission.

But this time things were very different. There was a congregation of around 75 - double what we have seen in the past. All ages were represented and it was also much more culturally diverse. An Asian family played the music and African nuns welcomed everyone and helped in the service.

The priest told the story of how one day an Asian man knocked on his door and asked to be baptised. The man recounted that he came to France at age two, following a military uprising in his home country. He studied and worked hard and had risen to a senior position in a major company.

But one day he asked himself why was he doing this? He worked long hours, always chasing the next bonus or promotion, and wasn't even around to see his children growing up. So, he resigned his job and, on a whim, decided to walk the pilgrimage route to Santiago in Spain. He was a Buddhist, but during the walk he encountered God in an amazing way. Several times he sensed God's love, and just knew that Jesus was real, and on his return he decided to ask to be baptised. He was duly baptised and confirmed and took his place as an active and engaged member of his local church.

This was a wonderful story and reminded me that God is not limited to the four walls of churches. The Christian God is a missionary God, constantly reaching out to his estranged children, longing to draw them back into His family. Our honour and joy is that we get to work with God in this.

So, if you have had an encounter with God and you need help to work out what it meant, or how to place your experience within the Christian faith, or to work out what an appropriate response would be, do get in touch. I would love to help you with that. God bless and be expectant. www.fuelforpilgrims.org
